

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF NEW YORK

New York Immigration Coalition; J.V., individually and as next friend to her future child; D.F., individually and as next friend to her future child; and Rural & Migrant Ministry,

Plaintiffs,

v.

DONALD J. TRUMP, President of the United States, in his official capacity;

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY, Kristi
Noem, Secretary of the U.S.
Department of Homeland Security, in her official capacity;

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF STATE,
Marco Rubio, Secretary of State, in his official capacity;

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE, Pamela Jo Bondi, Attorney General of the United States, in her official capacity;

THE CENTERS FOR MEDICARE AND MEDICAID SERVICES,
Stephanie Carlton, Acting
Administrator of the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services, in her
official capacity;

CIVIL ACTION NO:
25-cv-01309-MMG

AMENDED COMPLAINT FOR DECLARATORY AND INJUNCTIVE RELIEF

SOCIAL SECURITY
ADMINISTRATION, Leland Dudek,
Acting Commissioner for Social Security, in his official capacity.

Defendants.

NATURE OF THE CASE

1. “Citizenship is man’s basic right for it is nothing less than the right to have rights. Remove this priceless possession and there remains a stateless person. . .”¹ Organizational Plaintiff, New York Immigration Coalition, whose constituents include expectant parents with temporary immigration status or who are undocumented, individual Plaintiffs J.V., and D.F., for themselves and as next friend to their future children, expectant mothers with temporary immigration status, and organizational Plaintiff, Rural & Migrant Ministry, whose membership includes expectant mothers with temporary immigration status or who are undocumented, bring this action challenging President Trump’s Executive Order purporting to end birthright citizenship because it strips away “priceless” citizenship rights from U.S.-born children and renders them “stateless person[s].”²

2. Ratified in 1868 after the Civil War, the first sentence of the Fourteenth Amendment—the Citizenship Clause—declares “[a]ll persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside.” U.S. CONST. amend. XIV, § 1. Thirty years after ratification, upholding the plain text of the Citizenship Clause and affirming the ancient and fundamental rule of jus soli—citizenship by virtue of place of birth—the Supreme Court ruled that the Citizenship Clause guarantees citizenship to U.S.-born children irrespective of parental alienage, race, or immigration status. See U.S. v. Wong Kim Ark, 169 U.S. 649 (1898).

¹ Perez v. Brownwell, 356 U.S. 44, 66 (1958) (Warren, C. J., dissenting).

² Id.

3. Defying nearly 127-year-old settled law, on January 20, 2025, President Trump issued an Executive Order purporting to strip U.S.-born children of their citizenship if at the time of birth the child’s “mother was unlawfully present in the United States” or her presence “was lawful but temporary” and the father of the child was not a U.S. citizen or lawful permanent resident.³ The Executive Order (“birthright citizenship ban”) directs federal agencies not to issue documents recognizing U.S. citizenship or accept documents issued by any state, local, or other governments recognizing U.S. citizenship of U.S.-born children whose parents have temporary immigration status or who are undocumented.

³ Exec. Order 14160, 90 Fed. Reg. 8449 (Jan. 20, 2025).

4. The Fourteenth Amendment also guarantees equal protection.⁴ But in clear defiance of well-established Equal Protection Clause jurisprudence, such as Oyama v. California,⁵ the birthright citizenship ban invidiously discriminates against future U.S.-born children because of their parental alienage—a burden that falls harshly and disproportionately on Latinos—like plaintiffs J.V. and D.F.—who are a majority of the immigrants with statuses targeted by the Executive Order.

5. President Trump’s contempt for birthright citizenship and immigrants is in plain view. He derided birthright citizenship as “ridiculous,” and vowed to end it.⁶ He tweeted that birthright citizenship “costs our country billions of dollars and is very unfair to our citizens [and] will be ended one way or the other.”⁷ Ten days after he signed the birthright citizenship ban, the President claimed—contrary to settled law—that birthright citizenship was “meant for the children of former[ly] enslaved people] and not meant for the whole world to come and pile into the United States of America. Everybody coming in and totally unqualified people and ⁴ The Fourteenth Amendment prohibits a state from “deny[ing] to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.” U.S. Const. amend. XIV, § 1. In 1954, the Supreme Court made explicit that the principles of equal protection also bind the federal government, through the Due Process Clause of the Fifth Amendment. U.S. CONST. amend. V; Bolling v. Sharpe, 347 U.S. 497, 499 (1954); see also U.S. v. Paradise, 480 U.S. 149, 166 n.16 (1987) (reiterating that the Fifth Amendment contains an “equal protection guarantee” that is “coextensive with that of the Fourteenth [Amendment]...”).

⁵ 332 U.S. 633 (1948).

⁶ Jonathan Swan & Stef W. Knight, Exclusive: Trump Targeting Birthright Citizenship with Executive Order, AXIOS (Oct. 30, 2018), <https://www.axios.com/2018/10/30/trump-birthright-citizenship-executive-order>.

⁷ @realDonaldTrump, X [formerly known as TWITTER] (Oct. 31, 2018, 1:25 PM), <https://x.com/realDonaldTrump/status/1057624553478897665>.

with perhaps unqualified children. [Birthright citizenship] wasn't meant for that.”⁸ President Trump pledged to end birthright citizenship, and Executive Order 14160 delivers on that promise.

6. Stripping birthright citizenship will have deleterious consequences. It will render stateless thousands of children born to immigrants residing in the United States who have temporary immigration status or are undocumented. It will force U.S.-born children into the shadows of society without the benefits and opportunities of citizenship. It will put them at risk of deportation because they are stateless. It will deprive U.S.-born children of their identity as Americans; deny them access to critical legal documents like U.S. passports and social security cards; and may deprive them of essential health care, nutrition, and early childhood education—benefits they need to nurture their health and development.

7. Stripping birthright citizenship will adversely impact about 53 percent of undocumented Latinos, between the ages of 25 and 44, who are in their prime childbearing years and whose U.S.-born children will be stripped of the privileges and immunities of citizenship.

⁸ Bart Jansen, President Trump Expects to End Birthright Citizenship with Support from Supreme Court, USA TODAY (Jan. 30, 2025), <https://www.usatoday.com/story/news/politics/2025/01/30/trump-supreme-court-will-uphold-ending-birthright-citizenship/78060886007/>.

8. Plaintiffs challenge the birthright citizenship ban as unconstitutional violations of the Citizenship and Equal Protection Clauses of the Fourteenth Amendment, and as a violation of the Immigration and Naturalization Act, 8 U.S.C. § 1401(a). Plaintiffs ask that the birthright citizenship ban be declared unconstitutional and in violation of federal statutory law.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

9. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction over this action pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1331 because this action arises under the Constitution and laws of the United States, and pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1343 because this action seeks to redress the deprivation of a right or privilege of a citizen of the United States and to secure equitable and other relief under any Act of Congress providing for the protection of civil rights.

10. Plaintiffs seek declaratory and injunctive relief, and any other appropriate relief, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 2201 and 2202; Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 57 and 65.

11. Venue is proper under 28 U.S.C. § 1391(e)(1) because a substantial part of the events and omissions giving rise to the claim occurred and have impacts in this district and individual Plaintiff D.F. resides in this district as do organizational Plaintiffs New York Immigration Coalition and Rural & Migrant Ministry whose principal places of business are in this district.

PARTIES

Plaintiffs

12. Individual Plaintiff, J.V., is a 31-year-old Venezuelan national.⁹ She has Temporary Protected Status (“TPS”) through April 2, 2025. J.V. has a pending asylum petition. J.V. is five months pregnant. She has temporary housing in New York State.

13. Individual Plaintiff, D.F., is a 35-year-old Colombian immigrant, who has a pending asylum application.¹⁰ D.F. is six months pregnant. She resides in Westchester County, New York.

14. Organizational Plaintiff, New York Immigration Coalition (“NYIC”), is a 37-year-old tax-exempt nonprofit organization with a principal place of business in New York, New York. NYIC is a member-led coalition of immigrant and refugee organizations that strengthens and builds its members’ power, organizes and educates immigrant communities and the public, and uses the collective voice of its constituents to advocate for opportunity and justice.

15. Organizational Plaintiff, Mid-Hudson Catskill Rural & Migrant Ministry dba Rural & Migrant Ministry (“RMM”), is a 44-year-old grassroots non-profit organization committed to migrant justice, equity, and civic integration.

⁹ J.V. has moved this Court to appear in this matter under a pseudonym because she fears retaliation.

¹⁰ D.F. has moved this Court to appear in this matter under a pseudonym because she fears retaliation.

Headquartered in Orange County, New York, RMM’s mission is to create hope, justice, and empowerment with farm-working and rural families by building community and developing leaders through advocacy, education, and the arts.

Defendants

16. Defendant Donald J. Trump is the President of the United States of America. He is sued in his official capacity. As President, he signed and issued Executive Order 14160—birthright citizenship ban—which is challenged in this lawsuit.

17. Defendant Kristi Noem is the Secretary of the U.S. Department of Homeland Security (“DHS”). She is sued in her official capacity. In that capacity, she administers and enforces Defendant Department of Homeland Security’s activities and responsibilities, including the responsibility of ensuring DHS complies with the Executive Order. DHS houses the immigration enforcement agencies U.S. Customs and Border Protection (“CBP”), U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (“ICE”), and U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (“USCIS”).

18. Defendant Marco Rubio is the Secretary of the U.S. Department of State. He is sued in his official capacity. In that capacity, he administers and enforces Defendant Department of State’s activities and responsibilities, including the responsibility of ensuring the Department of State complies with the Executive Order. The U.S. Department of State is an executive department of the United States responsible for, among other duties, granting and issuing passports to American citizens.

19. Defendant Pamela Jo Bondi is the Attorney General of the United States. She is sued in her official capacity. In that capacity, she administers and enforces Defendant Department of Justice's activities and responsibilities, including the responsibility of ensuring the Department of Justice complies with the Executive Order.

20. Defendant Stephanie Carlton is the Acting Administrator of the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services ("CMS"). She is sued in her official capacity. In that capacity, she administers and enforces Defendant Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services' activities and responsibilities, including the responsibility of ensuring CMS complies with the Executive Order. CMS is a federal agency of the United States responsible for providing healthcare coverage to U.S. citizens and some eligible non-U.S. citizens.

21. Defendant Leland Dudek is the Acting Commissioner for Social Security. He is sued in his official capacity. In that capacity, he administers and enforces Defendant Social Security Administration's ("SSA") activities and responsibilities, including the responsibility of ensuring SSA complies with the Executive Order. SSA is an independent agency in the executive branch of the United States. Among other duties, SSA is responsible for administering benefits, such as retirement and disability benefits, managing Supplemental Security Income, and issuing Social Security numbers and cards to U.S. citizens.

LEGAL FRAMEWORK

The Fourteenth Amendment’s Citizenship and Equal Protection Clauses Proscribe the Discriminatory Treatment Meted out by the Birthright Citizenship Ban

A) The Citizenship Clause

22. By the mid-eighteenth century, citizenship by virtue of place of birth irrespective of parental nationality—known as jus soli—was firmly established in U.S. law.¹¹ After its ratification in 1868, the Fourteenth Amendment guaranteed formerly enslaved people and their descendants U.S. citizenship. U.S. CONST. amend. XIV, § 1.

23. The first sentence of the Fourteenth Amendment—the Citizenship Clause—pronounces

[a]ll persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. *Id.*¹²

¹¹ See Michael D. Ramsey, Originalism and Birthright Citizenship, 109 GEO. L.J. 405, 413-14 (2020); see also, Lynch v. Clarke, 1 Sand.Ch. 583, 663 (N.Y. Ch. 1844) (deciding that children born in the U.S. to Irish citizens visiting the U.S. were U.S. citizens).

¹² Like the Citizenship Clause, by statute, “a person born in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof” is a U.S. citizen. 8 U.S.C § 1401(a).

24. The plain text of the Citizenship Clause guarantees U.S. citizenship to children born on U.S. soil.¹³ The Clause eviscerated grant of citizenship based on race, caste, hereditary, or ancestry. United States v. Wong Kim Ark erased any doubt confirming that a U.S.-born child of Chinese immigrants was a U.S. citizen.¹⁴ It is thus well-settled that U.S.-born children, irrespective of their parents' alienage, nationality, or immigration status, are U.S. citizens.¹⁵

B) The Equal Protection Clause

25. The Equal Protection Clause commands that “[n]o state shall deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.” U.S. CONST. amend. XIV, § 1. The Supreme Court has construed the Clause to forbid discrimination against a U.S.-born citizen because of parental alienage. See Oyama v. California, 332 U.S. 633, 646–47 (1948); see also Lewis v. Thompson, 252 F.3d 567, 591 (2d Cir. 2001) (invalidating a statute denying healthcare benefit to future U.S.-born children because of the undocumented status of their mothers).

26. Under the Equal Protection Clause, a classification based on alienage or national origin—both suspect classifications—is subject to strict scrutiny and must be narrowly tailored to serve a compelling governmental interest. See Nyquist

¹³ The concept of jus soli does not apply to the children of diplomats and foreign military personnel. See, e.g. Ramsey, supra note 11 at 416.

¹⁴ 169 U.S. 649, 700-01 (1898).

¹⁵ See, e.g. Acosta v. Gaffney, 558 F.2d 1153, 1158 (3d Cir. 1977) (recognizing U.S. citizenship of a 22-month-old infant whose Colombian parents were “deportable aliens”).

v. Mauclet, 432 U.S. 1, 7 (1977); Graham v. Richardson, 403 U.S. 365, 372 (1971). Similarly, a facially neutral policy that has an adverse effect on the basis of alienage or national origin and was motivated by discriminatory animus is also subject to strict scrutiny. See Village of Arlington Heights v. Metro. Hous. Dev. Corp., 429 U.S. 252 (1977).

27. The Equal Protection Clause is construed broadly to afford protection to all persons, including immigrants with temporary status or who are undocumented and who suffer unconstitutional differential treatment because of alienage or national origin.¹⁶ The birthright citizenship ban subjects U.S.-born children and their immigrant parents with temporary or undocumented status to discriminatory treatment on account of alienage and national origin. Additionally, the ban was motivated by discriminatory animus and disparately impacts immigrants from Latin American countries.

FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

A) The Birthright Citizenship Ban Discriminates Against Plaintiffs on Account of Alienage and National Origin

J.V.

28. Individual Plaintiff, J.V., is a 31-year-old Venezuelan national who entered the United States in 2023. She has Temporary Protected Status (“TPS”) through April 2, 2025. The Trump Administration has revoked TPS,¹⁷ ending the program for more than 300,000 Venezuelans.¹⁸ J.V. has a pending asylum petition. J.V.'s partner, who is the father of her child, is also a Venezuelan whose TPS will soon expire.

¹⁶ See, e.g. Deide v. Day, 676 F.Supp.3d 196, 222, 225 (S.D.N.Y. 2023) (subjecting policy denying housing to migrant and asylum-seekers to strict scrutiny and declaring the policy unconstitutional).

29. J.V. is five months pregnant. She believes the birthright citizenship ban is cruel and unjust. The ban denies her future U.S.-born child U.S. citizenship. Even assuming J.V. could obtain identity documents for the child from her home country, there is no longer any Venezuelan consulate in the United States and the United States has severed diplomatic relations with Venezuela.¹⁹ The precarious citizenship status of her unborn child puts J.V. under enormous stress. The birthright citizenship ban will render J.V.'s child a stateless nomad without a home country.

30. The birthright citizenship ban also will render J.V.'s future child ineligible for Medicaid, denying the child critical postnatal care. J.V. is currently receiving prenatal care through Medicaid. J.V.’s future child will be denied a U.S. passport, a social security number, an unrestricted social security card, and access to essential health care and housing—all of which she would receive, given her family’s economic circumstances, but for the birthright citizenship ban.

¹⁷ DHS Terminates the 2023 Designation of Venezuela for Temporary Protected Status, U.S. CITIZENSHIP AND IMMIGRATION SERVICES (Feb. 3, 2025), <https://www.uscis.gov/newsroom/alerts/dhs-terminates-the-2023-designation-of-venezuela-for-temporary-protected-status#>.

¹⁸ Hamed Aleaziz, Maggie Haberman, Trump Administration Moves to End Protections for Venezuelans in the U.S., N.Y. TIMES (Feb. 2, 2025), <https://www.nytimes.com/2025/02/02/us/politics/trump-venezuela-temporary-protected-status.html> [on file with LatinoJustice PRLDEF].

¹⁹ Jennifer Hansler, Venezuelan Embassy Run by Opposition in US Closes after Guaido Ouster, CNN (Jan. 6, 2023), <https://www.cnn.com/2023/01/06/politics/venezuelan-opposition-embassy-us-closes/index.html>.

Defendants’ actions and failure to act cause harm to J.V. and her future U.S.-born child. Defendants’ birthright citizenship ban discriminates against J.V. and her future U.S.-born child on account of alienage and national origin.

D.F.

31. Individual Plaintiff, D.F. is a 35-year-old Colombian immigrant, who has a pending asylum application. She entered the United States in March 2024. D.F. is six months pregnant and her partner, the father of her unborn child, who is also a Colombian immigrant, has a pending asylum application. D.F. and her partner reside in Westchester County, New York. D.F. and her partner came to the United States in search of better opportunities.

32. D.F. and her partner believe that the birthright citizenship ban discriminates against their unborn child. Their child will have no immigration status, no rights, and no country. Their child will be rendered stateless. Their child also will be denied critical healthcare benefits as an infant, and when the child is of school-age will be bullied in school for not being a United States citizen. D.F. and her partner believe that the birthright citizenship ban is unjust. Defendants’ actions and failure to act cause harm to D.F. and her future U.S.-born child. Defendants' birthright citizenship ban discriminates against D.F.'s unborn child on account of parental alienage and national origin.

New York Immigration Coalition

33. Organizational Plaintiff New York Immigration Coalition ("NYIC") is a tax-exempt non-profit organization headquartered in New York City. It has offices in Albany, Buffalo, Hempstead, Newburg, Rochester, and Syracuse. NYIC is a statewide member-led coalition of over 170 immigrant and refugee-rights groups throughout New York. Its mission is to strengthen and build its members' power, organize and educate immigrant communities and the public, and use the collective voice of its constituents to advocate for opportunity and justice.

34. NYIC's membership includes immigrant-led and immigrant-serving groups, and it directly serves immigrants from diverse communities. Among the services it provides to immigrants are low-cost immigration legal services and assistance with accessing vital health services. In 2024, NYIC assisted over 400 immigrants with petitions for asylum, Temporary Protected Status, Employment Authorization Documents, and Motions to Reopen immigration cases.

35. Among those NYIC serves are immigrant expectant parents who have immigration statuses targeted by the birthright citizenship ban. Two examples are illustrative. In November 2024, NYIC assisted an expectant mother who is due in June 2025 and has a temporary immigration status. The expectant mother came to the United States in search of a better life. She is deeply concerned that her future child will be denied the benefits of American citizenship. NYIC also served a couple who fled violence in their home country with their children. Both parents are TPS holders who are expecting their first U.S.-born child in August 2025. They believe it is wrong to deny their unborn child the benefits of American citizenship.

36. Besides the expectant parents that NYIC has assisted, its immigrant-led member groups also are aware of at least six immigrants who are pregnant and hold immigration statuses targeted by the birthright citizenship ban. The immigrant families that NYIC serves as well as those served by its member organizations will be harmed by the birthright citizenship ban.

37. In addition to the harm that the birthright citizenship ban will inflict on NYIC's constituents, NYIC itself will be injured. NYIC is diverting resources away from its provision of legal assistance to immigrants seeking help with TPS, Employment Authorization Documents, Motion to Reopen immigration cases, and the services it provides to connect immigrants to mental health, employment, and other stability services to combat the impacts of the birthright citizenship ban.

38. Given the palpable fear and anxiety the birthright citizenship ban has wreaked in the immigrant community, NYIC will have to divert resources away from its core mission to create and develop new training materials, FAQs

(Frequently Asked Questions), and presentations that explain the far-reaching consequences of the ban. NYIC will reassign legal and administrative staff to meet the urgent needs that the ban has needlessly created. The new training materials will explain how immigrant parents should navigate the precarious statuses of their U.S.-born children who will now be stripped of U.S. citizenship.

39. Defendants’ actions and omissions harm NYIC itself and its constituents including asylees, applicants for asylum, TPS holders, recipients of student and work visas, and undocumented immigrants—some of whom are presently expectant parents or plan to have children in the future. Defendants’ birthright citizenship ban discriminates against NYIC and its constituents on account of alienage and national origin.

Rural & Migrant Ministry

40. Established in 1981, Rural & Migrant Ministry (“RMM”), is a grassroots non-profit organization committed to migrant justice, equity, and civic integration. RMM’s mission is to create hope, justice, and empowerment with farm-working and rural families by building community and developing leaders through advocacy, education, and the arts. RMM provides essential material and moral support for migrant and immigrant families.

41. RMM’s Board of Directors comprises former program participants and an array of stakeholders. Each year, RMM serves over 50,000 individuals, about 90 percent of whom are Latino, many of whom have temporary immigration status or are undocumented. RMM's program services include an Immigrant Legal Rights Project, Headstart/childcare, and Youth Empowerment.

42. RMM also runs a Rural Women's Assembly which assists rural women facing barriers of poverty, prejudice, gender violence, inadequate childcare, and healthcare. The Rural Women's Assembly serves over two hundred women, many of whom are of childbearing age.

43. RMM's Rural Women's Assembly includes expectant mothers and parents who plan to grow their families and whose immigration statuses are targeted by the birthright citizenship ban. RMM's membership includes at least two expectant mothers—one who is eight months pregnant, and the other five months pregnant—whose immigration statuses are targeted by the birthright citizenship ban. Both expectant mothers are Guatemalans. They are concerned that their unborn children will be denied critical healthcare benefits, excluded from the benefits of American citizenship, and rendered stateless.

44. RMM believes that its rural members whose immigration statuses are targeted by the birthright citizenship ban already suffer isolation, systemic injustice, and discrimination and will be subjected to further marginalization by excluding their U.S.-born children from the privileges and immunities of American citizenship. These U.S.-born children targeted because of their parents' alienage, national origin and/or immigration status will be denied critical healthcare benefits, social security cards, United States passports, and rendered stateless. When they are older, they also will face additional exclusions from financial benefits, such as scholarships, available to only U.S. citizens. Defendants discriminate against RMM's members targeted by the birthright citizenship ban on account of alienage and national origin.

B) The Birthright Citizenship Ban Was Motivated By Discriminatory Animus

45. On January 20, 2025, President Trump's first day in office, he signed Executive Order 14160—birthright citizenship ban—declaring the privilege of the United States citizenship does not automatically extend to persons born in the United States: (1) when that person's mother was unlawfully present in the United States and the father was not a United States citizen or lawful permanent resident at the time of the said person's birth, or (2) when that person's mother's presence in the United States at the time of said person's birth was lawful but temporary (such as, but not limited to, visiting the United States...or visiting on a student, work, or tourist visa), and the father was not a United States citizen or a lawful permanent resident at the time of said person's birth.²⁰

46. The birthright citizenship ban directs federal agencies not to “issue documents recognizing United States citizenship or accept documents issued by state, local, or other governments or authorities purporting to recognize United States citizenship to persons” identified in section 1 of the Order. Id. at § 2. The birthright citizenship ban becomes effective February 19, 2025. Id. at § 2(b).

²⁰ 90 Fed. Reg. at 8449.

47. On December 8, 2024, six weeks before the President signed the birthright citizenship ban, he inaccurately claimed “[w]e’re the only country that has [birthright citizenship],” and vowed “to end it.”²¹ The President said the guarantee of birthright citizenship was “ridiculous.”²² He said there were “record numbers of migrants crossing the border” and that birthright citizenship was a “magnet” pulling many migrants to do so.²³

48. The President claimed there was a “migrant crime” wave blaming “MS-13 and Venezuelan gangs [who are] the worst in the world.”²⁴ He claimed they were “literally taking over apartment complexes and doing it with impunity.”²⁵

49. Four months before the President’s birthright citizenship ban, he claimed Haitian migrants were stealing and “eating people’s dogs and cats.”²⁶

²¹ Jane C. Timm, Fact-Checking Trump’s Interview with ‘Meet the Press’ NBC NEWS (Dec. 8, 2024), <https://www.nbcnews.com/politics/donald-trump/fact-check-trump-interview-meet-the-press-rcna182995>.

²² Swan & Knight, supra note 6.

²³ Ted Hesson, Trump Vows to End Birthright Citizenship for Children of Immigrants in US Illegally, REUTERS (May 30, 2023), <https://www.reuters.com/world/us/trump-vows-end-birthright-citizenship-children-immigrants-us-illegally-2023-05-30/>.

²⁴ Timm, supra note 21.

²⁵ Id.

²⁶ Julia Reinstein & Hanna Demissie, Trump Pushes False Claims that Haitian Migrants Are Stealing and Eating Pets, ABC NEWS (Sep. 10, 2024), <https://abcnews.go.com/Politics/trump-pushes-false-claim-haitian-migrants-stealing-eating/story?id=113570407>.

50. And nine months before the ban, the President said immigrants were “poisoning the blood” of the nation.²⁷ He contended that migrants crossing the southern border are “criminals flooding in from prisons and mental institutions.”²⁸ He referred to migrants as “animals” saying “[t]hey are not people in my opinion.”²⁹

51. Long before he took office, the President repeatedly criticized birthright citizenship, pledging to reinterpret the Citizenship Clause by ending birthright citizenship.³⁰ He delivered on his promise.³¹ The President’s contemporaneous statements evince discriminatory animus to immigrants on account of alienage and national origin.

²⁷ Maggie Astor, Trump Doubles Down on Migrants ‘Poisoning’ the Country, N.Y. TIMES (Mar. 17, 2024), <https://www.nytimes.com/2024/03/17/us/politics/trump-fox-interview-migrants.html> [on file with LatinoJustice PRLDEF].

²⁸ Id.

²⁹ Id.

³⁰ Ximena Bustillo, Trump to Make Historic Move Toward Revoking Birthright Citizenship, NPR (Jan. 20, 2025), <https://www.npr.org/2025/01/20/g-s1-43765/trump-inauguration-birthright-citizenship>.

³¹ In 2016, as a candidate, the President consistently questioned President Obama’s birthright citizenship. And in his bid for the Presidency in 2020, he questioned Vice President Harris’s eligibility to run for the presidency because her parents had temporary immigration status at the time of her birth. See, e.g. Katie Rogers, Trump Encourages Racist Conspiracy Theory About Kamala Harris, N.Y. TIMES (Aug. 13, 2020), <https://www.nytimes.com/2020/08/13/us/politics/trump-kamala-harris.html> [on file with LatinoJustice PRLDEF].

C) The Birthright Citizenship Ban Disparately Impacts Latino Immigrants

52. The United States is quintessentially a nation of immigrants. The first immigrant to arrive in modern day Manhattan in 1613 was Juan Rodriguez—an immigrant from the country now known as Dominican Republic. Some of the Framers of the Constitution were also immigrants. Even before the United States’s founding, immigrants have been a staple of its cultural tapestry.

53. Immigrants from Latin American and other countries have been and remain vital to America’s economic development. For example, in 2019, in the four states with the highest shares of the immigrant population—California, New York, Texas, and Florida—the combined spending power of immigrants was $673 billion.³² Latinos comprise nearly 48 percent of the foreign-born labor force.³³

54. In 2022, relying on Individual Tax Identification Numbers, undocumented immigrants paid an estimated $59.4 billion in federal taxes, $25.7

³² CONGRESSIONAL JOINT ECONOMIC COMMITTEE, IMMIGRANTS ARE VITAL TO THE U.S. ECONOMY 5 (2021), https://www.jec.senate.gov/public/_cache/files/6750b0f0-c851-4fee-9619-295582fd44e8/immigrants-are-vital-to-the-us-economy-final.pdf.

³³ Latino refers to individuals whose origins are from Latin America. See Hugo Lopez et al., Who Is Hispanic?, PEW RSCH. CTR. (Sept. 23, 2021), <https://www.pewresearch.org/fact-tank/2021/09/23/who-is-hispanic/>. Latinos can be of any race. The term includes Afro-Latinos and Indigenous people who self-identify as Latino. For data on the Latino population, see Hispanic Heritage Month: 2023, U.S. CENSUS BUREAU (Aug. 17, 2023), <https://www.census.gov/newsroom/facts-for-features/2023/hispanic-heritage-month.html>.

billion in Social Security taxes, and 6.4 billion in Medicare taxes—and yet, they are ineligible to receive federal benefits.³⁴

55. At 72 percent, Latinos constitute the majority of undocumented immigrants living in the shadows while contributing to the federal coffers.³⁵ More than half of them have lived in the United States for fifteen years or longer.³⁶ Fifty-three percent are between the ages of 25 and 44—people of prime working and childbearing age who would be adversely impacted by the birthright citizenship ban.³⁷ The largest group of undocumented Latinos comes from Mexico, followed by El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Venezuela, Dominican Republic, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, and Nicaragua. Childbearing immigrants from these Latin American countries will be disparately impacted by Defendants’ birthright citizenship ban.³⁸

³⁴ Kevin Appleby, The Importance of Immigrant Labor to the U.S. Economy, CTR. FOR MIGRATION STUDIES (Sept. 2, 2024), <https://cmsny.org/importance-of-immigrant-labor-to-us-economy/>.

³⁵ See Evin Millet & Jacquelyn Paviol, Demographic Profile of Undocumented Hispanic Immigrants in the U.S., CTR. FOR MIGRATION STUDIES (Oct. 2022), https://cmsny.org/wp-content/uploads/2022/04/Hispanic_undocumented.pdf. Undocumented immigrants from Asian countries—who constitute the second largest group after Latinos—as well as undocumented immigrants from Europe, Canada, Africa, and the Middle East will also be impacted by the birthright citizenship ban. See, e.g. Jeffrey Passel & Jens Manuel Krogstad, What We Know About Unauthorized Immigrants Living in the U.S., PEW RSCH. CTR. (July 22, 2024), <https://www.pewresearch.org/short-reads/2024/07/22/what-we-know-about-unauthorized-immigrants-living-in-the-us/#>.

³⁶ See Millet & Paviol, supra note 35.

³⁷ Id.

³⁸ Id.

56. Each year, about 250,000 children are born to undocumented parents.³⁹ These U.S.-born children live in mixed-immigration status households and are guaranteed the full benefits of American citizenship. They are entitled to a U.S. passport, birth certificate, unrestricted social security card, health care, nutrition, and housing (if they are indigent).⁴⁰

57. The birthright citizenship ban renders these U.S.-born children stateless, and denies them American identity and the privileges and immunities of U.S. citizenship. The ban excludes these U.S.-born children from critical health, social, economic, and educational benefits, consigns them to living in the shadows and in the margins of society, and puts them at risk of deportation or months-long detention because of their statelessness. Defendants' birthright citizenship ban discriminates against these U.S.-born children on account of parental alienage, and national origin. The ban imposes separate and unequal treatment.

CLAIMS FOR RELIEF

FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION Violation of the Citizenship Clause (All Defendants)

³⁹ See Jeffrey S. Passel, et al., Number of U.S.-Born Babies with Unauthorized Immigrant Parents Has Fallen Since 2007, PEW RSCH. CTR. (Nov. 1, 2018), <https://www.pewresearch.org/short-reads/2018/11/01/the-number-of-u-s-born-babies-with-unauthorized-immigrant-parents-has-fallen-since-2007/>.

⁴⁰ See, e.g. BRUCE LESLEY, FIRST FOCUS ON CHILDREN, In Harm's Way: The Consequences of Denying Birthright Citizenship for America's Children and Our Future (Nov. 15, 2024), <https://firstfocus.org/wp-content/uploads/2024/11/Birthright-Citizenship-Issue-Brief.pdf>.

58. All of the foregoing allegations set forth in the preceding paragraphs are repeated and realleged as if fully set forth herein.

59. The Citizenship Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment guarantees to “all persons born ... in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof” U.S. citizenship. U.S. Const. Amend. XIV, § 1.

60. The plain text of the Citizenship Clause and Supreme Court precedent make clear that U.S.-born children are U.S. citizens irrespective of parental alienage, national origin, and/or immigration status.

61. By denying U.S. citizenship to the future U.S.-born children of the individual Plaintiffs and similarly situated constituents of organizational Plaintiff NYIC, and members of organizational Plaintiff RMM, (“Plaintiffs”) because of parental alienage, national origin, and/or immigration status, Executive Order 14160—the birthright citizenship ban—violates the Citizenship Clause.

SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION
Violation of the Equal Protection Clause
(All Defendants)

62. All of the foregoing allegations set forth in the preceding paragraphs are repeated and realleged as if fully set forth herein.

63. The Equal Protection Clause commands that “[n]o state shall deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.” U.S. CONST. amend. XIV, § 1. Discrimination against a U.S.-born minor because of parental alienage violates the Equal Protection Clause. See Oyama v. California, 332 U.S. 633, 646-47 (1948).

64. By denying U.S. citizenship to the future U.S.-born children of the Plaintiffs because their immigrant parents are classified as immigrants who have temporary or undocumented status, Executive Order 14160—the birthright citizenship ban—intentionally discriminates on account of alienage and national origin in violation of the Equal Protection Clause.

65. In addition, or, in the alternative, by denying U.S. citizenship to the future U.S.-born children of the Plaintiffs because their immigrant parents have temporary or undocumented status, Executive Order 14160—the birthright citizenship ban—intentionally discriminates on account of alienage, national origin and/or immigration status in violation of the Equal Protection Clause.

66. In addition, or, in the alternative, Executive Order 14160—the birthright citizenship ban—was motivated by discriminatory animus and disparately impacts future U.S.-born children whose parents have temporary or undocumented status and are from Latin American countries thereby intentionally discriminating on account of alienage, national origin and/or immigration status in violation of the Equal Protection Clause.

67. By subjecting Plaintiffs, who have temporary or undocumented status and whose children are future U.S.-born citizens, to differential treatment, Executive Order 14160—the birthright citizenship ban—intentionally discriminates on account of alienage, national origin and/or immigration status in violation of the Equal Protection Clause.

THIRD CAUSE OF ACTION
Violation of 8 U.S.C. § 1401(a)
(All Defendants excluding Defendant Trump)

68. All of the foregoing allegations set forth in the preceding paragraphs are repeated and realleged as if fully set forth herein.

69. 8 U.S.C. § 1401(a) guarantees U.S. citizenship to “a person born in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof.”

70. By denying U.S. citizenship to the future U.S.-born children of the Plaintiffs because of parental alienage, national origin, and/or immigration status, Executive Order 14160—the birthright citizenship ban—violates 8 U.S.C. § 1401(a).

PRAYERS FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE Plaintiffs request that the Court grant the following relief:

- a. Declare Executive Order 14160—the birthright citizenship ban—unconstitutional and contrary to the laws of the United States;
- b. Permanently enjoin the Defendants from enforcing Executive Order 14160—the birthright citizenship ban;
- c. Require Defendants to pay reasonable attorneys’ fees and costs; and

d. Order such other relief as the Court deems just and proper.

Dated this 3rd day of March, 2025

Respectfully submitted,

By: /s/ Francisca D. Fajana

Francisca D. Fajana

Cesar Z. Ruiz

LatinoJustice PRLDEF

475 Riverside Drive, Suite 1901

New York, NY 10115

212.219.3360

FFajana@latinojustice.org

CRuiz@latinojustice.org